New Chief Nursing Officer named at Huntsville Memorial Hospital Susan White named HMH CNO

HUNTSVILLE, TEXAS (Jan. 8, 2008) – Huntsville Memorial Hospital (HMH) announced today that Susan White has assumed the position of Chief Nursing Officer (CNO). White began her new position in early-November.

“I am delighted to be part of the Huntsville Memorial team,” White said. “The people I met while interviewing and since joining the team have been wonderful. I have been working with nonprofit healthcare systems for more than 20 years, and this is an opportunity for me to positively impact patient care while working with a group of professionals who are very committed to the community in which they live and work.”

As CNO, White will work with the medical staff to provide the highest quality care to patients in a safe and collaborative environment. In partnership with the administrative team, White will help to establish the vision and strategies for patient care delivery at the hospital.

White joins HMH from Memorial Hermann Sugar Land Hospital, where she was Chief Patient Care Officer managing more than 175 employees.

“Susan has an exceptional background and proven leadership experience,” said Sally Nelson, CEO of HMH. “We are building a strong team of dedicated professionals who are committed to providing the best patient care in the most community-friendly way possible, and Susan is a tremendous addition to this team.”

White is a member of the American Organization of Nurse Executives, Texas Nurses Association, American Nurses Association and ACHE, among others. She has contributed to CNOR Study Guides and Mosby’s Perioperative Nursing Series.

She received her bachelor of science in nursing from the University of Texas Health Science Center School of Nursing in Houston and her MBA from Our Lady of the Lake University in San Antonio.
