"If Morris Johnson did any more for Huntsville, we'd have to give him a halo."

-Sally Nelson, HMH CEO

It's not surprising that Morris Johnson was named 2009 Huntsville Citizen of the Year. His contributions to this community are legendary in scope and number. Among them is his service to Huntsville Memorial Hospital board of directors, where his hard work and wisdom have helped make our hospital what it is today — and what it will be tomorrow. Please join us in offering Morris our congratulations. And our thanks.

Down to earth and up to the minute.
